CONCISE SUMMARY OF REGULATORY PROVISIONS

TITLE 23. Waters

Division 4. Regional Water Quality Control Boards
Chapter 1. Water Quality Control Plans, Policies, and Guidelines
Article 4. Los Angeles Region

§ 3939.24 - Total Maximum Daily Load for Bacteria in Ballona Creek, Ballona Estuary and Sepulveda Channel .

This amendment to the Water Quality Control Plan for the Los Angeles Region (Basin Plan) establishes a Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL) for bacteria in Ballona Creek, Ballona Estuary, and Sepulveda Channel, based on a reference system approach which allows a set number of exceedances of the applicable bacteria objectives for wet-weather days and both summer (April 1 to October 31) and winter (November 1 to March 31) dry-weather days. Wetweather days are defined as any day receiving 0.1 inch of rain or more and three days thereafter. There are four components of the TMDL. First, the TMDL sets numeric water quality targets equal to the updated Basin Plan water contact recreation objectives for marine and fresh waters (for Ballona Estuary and Sepulveda Channel respectively), Basin Plan objectives for limited water contact recreation (for Reach 2 of Ballona Creek), and the non-contact water recreation Basin Plan objectives for Reach 1 of Ballona Creek. Second, the TMDL applies the allowable maximum number of daily and weekly sampling days which may exceed the single sample limits for the relevant bacterial indicators, specified in the Basin Plan during summer dry-weather, winter dry-weather, and wet weather. Third, the TMDL provides that all responsible jurisdictions and agencies within a subwatershed are jointly responsible for complying with the waste load allocations and that the responsible jurisdictions for the nonpoint sources are responsible for complying with their load allocation. Fourth, the TMDL applies the allowable exceedance days, and the rolling 30-day geometric bacteria density means as specified in the Basin Plan as bacteriological water quality objectives and stipulates these objectives must be achieved within six years for the summer and winter dry weather period and within 10-14 years for the wet-weather period. However, if an integrated water resources approach is implemented, the Executive Officer of the Los Angeles Water Quality Control Board (Los Angeles Water Board) may extend the compliance for the wet weather allowable exceedance days and the rolling 30 day geometric mean up to 14 years from the effective date of the TMDL (which corresponds with the final compliance date of the Santa Monica Bay Bacteria Beaches TMDL).

The amendment identifies Los Angeles County Municipal Separate Storm Sewer System (MS4) Water National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) permit and the Caltrans Storm Water Permit, any future Phase II MS4 permits, general NPDES permits, general industrial storm water permits, general construction storm water permits, and the authority vested in the Executive Officer by Water Code sections 13263, and 13267, and 13383, and other appropriate regulatory mechanisms as the principal regulatory tools to be used to implement the TMDL.

By July 15, 2018, the TMDL shall be re-considered to incorporate new information from technical or scientific studies, or to address revisions to water quality standards, such as adoption of revised water quality objectives based on recommendations from U.S. EPA.
