

Biological objectives: Stakeholder Advisory Group members and affiliations

Approximately 60 members of a range of interest groups either volunteered or were recommended for membership on the Stakeholder Advisory Group for development of biological objectives for Wadeable Streams. After reviewing this list and talking with representatives of some interest groups, the project finalized criteria for selecting committee members and combined some areas that overlap, both in their areas of management responsibility and their suggested representatives. These decisions were based on judgments about how best to structure the committee to accomplish its objective, which is to support two-way communication between other elements of the project (i.e., State Water Board, other regulatory agencies, the technical team, the Scientific Advisory Group) and members of each interest group statewide.

Interest areas include:

- Agriculture
- Builders / developers
- Department
- Environmental protection
- Fish hatcheries
- Flood control / municipalities / stormwater
- Forestry and timber harvest industry
- Hydropower and other electric utilities
- Management agencies (state and federal) (e.g., CA Dept. Fish & Game, CA Dept. of Water Resources, Bureau of Reclamation, Fish and Wildlife Service, Forest Service)
- Manufacturing / effluent-dominated flows
- Mining
- Mosquito abatement
- Pesticide manufacturers
- POTWs
- Recreation
- Water agencies
- Transportation
- Tribes

Potential Group members were prioritized based on whether they:

- Represent a statewide or regional professional organization / association
- Are an employee of an affected agency, organization, or other entity

- Contribute to geographic coverage of as much of the state as possible

The following table includes the list of advisory group members. Notes explaining the symbols attached to some names follow the table.
