Subject: reporting cost information

Richard:

Per our discussion this morning, I am looking to try and quantify some reporting costs and there are a few questions I was hoping you could help me with. Do you have "rough" information on:

- costs of validating information submitted into an online reporting system
- costs for conducting grower training for using the online reporting system
- ongoing costs for assisting growers with using the online reporting system
- costs for inputting information submitted by growers non-electronically into a database system
- costs of field validations you have or do conduct
- other costs or concerns with direct grower reporting of information that I should consider?

I will work with State Board to figure out what they think the cost would be for developing and maintaining the actual module within an existing database system.

Thanks,

Adam
