Subject: Dredging

I asked some people here in PA about this and they said that it is a good thing to do. It stirs up sediments that help nourish different wild life.

I remember them wanting to open different dams so that the sediments could again flow below the dam. By doing this, it helps the land, the fish that feed from the bottom as well as the other fish that feed on small muscles and shell fish that would benefit from the silt being stirred up.

Please continue to allow suction dredging in your State.

Thank you
