Please forgive the haste of my language as I just learned minutes ago about the OWTS Policy draft which will impact the community of Silverado Canyon.

In this time of historic economic crisis, I am baffled by the contemplation of such drastic measure. I do not live in the canyon, but I certainly have felt the effects of our governing bodies in California. People are barely feeding their families, yet our government continues to behave as though people have endless resources to comply with measures meant to generate state, county and city revenue.

I wish I had time to compose something that covered specifics, however given the deadline I simply wanted to share that I will be supporting the people of Silverado Canyon against what are some very troubling property right violation potentials being imposed by (as I understand it) an un-elected governing body. It seems the California oligarchy has lost sight of the fact that California is falling off of an economic cliff and instead continues to focus on issues which meddle in the lives of the working class. I sincerely hope the board will rely upon reason as it considers this issue.
