

Bio

Clifford Rechtschaffen is a Special Assistant Attorney General in the California Attorney General's Office. In that role he helps coordinate the work of the office's attorneys on global warming, including special projects and liaison with outside groups. He currently is on leave from Golden Gate University School of Law, where he taught environmental law and directed the environmental law program from 1993 to 2007. He has published several articles, and is the co-author of two books, about environmental enforcement, Reinventing Environmental Enforcement and the State/Federal Relationship, and Environmental Enforcement: Cases & Materials (a law school casebook). Prior to teaching at Golden Gate, he worked in the Environment Section of the California Attorney General's Office from 1986 to 1993. He is a graduate of Princeton University and Yale Law School.