

Quick Reference Guide for SAFER Clearinghouse Account Creation for Water Systems

1. Login Page

The Water Boards SAFER Clearinghouse can be accessed at <https://drought.waterboards.ca.gov>, which will direct you to the login page as pictured below.

If you do not yet have a registered email and password, please select the “Request Access” link under the login fields and proceed to the Request Access directions below. Please note, the Water Board Drinking Water Information Clearinghouse (DRINC) Portal account (used to submit electronic annual reports) cannot be used to log in to this platform. A new account within the SAFER Clearinghouse must be created.

If you already have a registered email and password, please enter these on the SAFER Clearinghouse login page where indicated. For password assistance, please refer to the “Forgot Password or Change Password” section below.

2. Request Access

Clicking on “Request Access” will bring up the New Account Request page. Water system representatives that will be drought reporting on behalf of a water system, please select the “Water System” account user type.

3. New Accounts for Water Systems

In addition to your personal contact information, water system representatives are required to identify at least one water system their account will be linked to. You may enter either a name or public water system identification (PWSID) number associated with a water system to add that water system to your account. More than one water system may be added; however, each water system will have to be approved for you to be able to report on their behalf or view past data. Enter the required fields on the “New Account Request” registration page, as pictured below. Please note that the County field is where the registering water system representative is physically located.
