Item 10 Update on the Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs) for Bacterial Indicators for the Middle Santa Ana River Watershed

This item was presented by Ms. Barbara Barry, Chief of Basin Planning, Inland Waters.

Ms. Barry provided an overview of the Middle Santa Ana River Bacterial Indicator TMDLs. The TMDLs for indicator bacteria in the Middle Santa Ana River Watershed was adopted on August 26, 2005 by the Santa Ana Water Board and approved May 16, 2007 by U.S. EPA to address impairments. Ms. Barry explained that TMDLs can be thought of as a plan to restore an impaired waterbody to water quality objectives. It involves the calculation of the maximum pollutant allowable load to enter the waterbody so it can meet objectives of a particular pollutant. There are several steps involved in developing TMDLs including identifying all potential sources of pollutants and assigning allocations of allowable pollutant to responsible parties.

Ms. Barry informed the Board the Middle Santa Ana River Watershed is located within San Bernardino County, Riverside County and a small portion of Los Angeles County and is 488 square miles in size. Ms. Barry said responsible parties to the TMDL's are confined animal feeding operations, U.S. Forest Service, and agricultural operations (irrigated and dry land farming). Ms. Barry noted several responsible parties within the watershed formed the Middle Santa Ana River Watershed TMDL Task Force. The Task Force was created to address bacterial indicator issues in the watershed and implements the TMDLs. The Task Force has been working cooperatively with Santa Ana Water Board staff on the SAR watershed for many years. The TMDLs has different compliance dates for dry and wet season discharges. The compliance deadlines for the TMDLs for dry summer conditions were no later than December 31, 2015 and for wet winter conditions are no later than December 31, 2025.

Presenters: Theresa Dunham, Kahn, Soares and Conway, LLP; Rick Whetsel, Santa Ana Watershed Project Authority.

Presentation by Rick Whetsel, Senior Watershed Project Manager with the Santa Ana Watershed Project Authority (SAWPA).

Mr. Whetsel spoke on behalf of SAWPA and the Middle Santa Ana River Watershed TMDL Task Force. He provided an update on the efforts and accomplishments of the Middle Santa Ana River TMDL Task Force and its stakeholder members.

Presentation by Theresa Dunham, Kahn, Soares and Conway, LLP.

Ms. Dunham presented key implementation mechanisms for achieving TMDLs. Ms. Dunham focused on the implementation of the bacteria reduction plans, which were incorporated into the municipal stormwater permits for the Riverside County and the San Bernardino County Programs in 2012. Ms. Dunham said one of the fundamental components of the bacteria reduction plans is they are designed to achieve the dry weather waste load allocations through a fundamental approach of eliminating and or reducing dry weather flows from the municipal stormwater systems. Ms. Dunham described the specific implementation activities.

Board Members had questions for Ms. Dunham and Mr. Whetsel.

Speakers: Arlene Chun, San Bernardino County Stormwater Program Manager provided an update of the TMDLs Task Force. Amy McNeill, Riverside County Flood Control and Water Conservation District expressed their support for the task force efforts to address bacteria impairment in the Middle Santa Ana River.

Board Members had questions for the speakers.
