- A With a total of five damsites in West Marin, the threat of Condemnation is looming over many families. The EIR/EIS evaluates 19,000-ACRES of privately owned Agricultural property in West County for pipelines, corridors, damsites, pump stations, and diversion projects. That's more than half the size of Petaluma or the city of Santa Rosa. 001
- B The environmental costs, in many cases involving the loss of entire ecosystems, will still be paid by the environment. 002
- C Wastewater in such volume would have unacceptable levels of Metals, Nitrate and Nitrite, or trace pollutants prone to biomagnification are the last thing we want in West Marin where our wells are shallow 20' to 40' deep. 003

- d. Missing from the document are meaningful perspectives on the Real World and the ecological relationships which surround us and our special place on earth. 004
- e. Wastewater Reuse sites in West Marin are unacceptable, also Agricultural Irrigation our land already takes too long to perk. 005
