Comments	This is about long term protection of ecosystems that will disappear if you don't take action. The short term benefits or impacts to human agriculture will work themselves out. We will survive either way. The ecosystem will only survive with more water. Most of the human caused damage to the Bay Delta has been done in a very short time (70 years or less). The impacts we have caused are clearly too much and we need to step back, please and thank you!
