

Schultz, Daniel@Waterboards

From: Dee Andreini <dee@sonic.net>
Sent: Thursday, June 25, 2015 10:18 AM
To: Schultz, Daniel@Waterboards
Cc: OAL Reference Attorney
Subject: Russian river tributaries title 23, section 876

Dear Danial

I wish to be notified if any action is taken on the regulation passed 6/17/15 per section 11346.1, or if it is filed with the OAL.

I could not believe that you passed this when they tried to call this an emergency. This problem with the coho salmon has been coming on for years. With the massive rise of vineyards without any restrictions or discussions of dry farming water in the dry months had to go down. I do not believe you have the right to use emergency in this case.

Also, with the rise of the words recycle and reuse, why are we suddenly being restricted on doing these things when we live in a water scarce area. It will only be good for those who are involved in commercial work. This is an insult to all of us who have been conserving water even before there was a drought. This regulation will not save one fish, but it may stop other projects that are important to this area.

This regulation must be rescinded.

Sincerely

Albert J Woicicki