Dear Mr. Vasquez and Ms, Stork,

Thought you might like the below reference housed at the State Water Resource Institute which were not pertinent to my specific comments. The report is two large bound volumes on the water rights of the Arrowhead Springs Property done in 1987. The parts I read appeared to be well researched. Below are two pages which might help the water board. Suzie Earp is the archivist at the Institute. There is a great deal of information on the Arrowhead springs issue filed and shelved but some are buried under different names such as the document below. There are documents at the National archives that I may send later, but the timing with the Federal government shutdown may make this difficult. These documents just further support my position that Nestle has no rights in our National Forest. Sorry that everything has to come piece meal, but there is a great deal of information pertaining to this complex case. I will continue to put related documents in the dropbox link.

Sincerely,

Amanda Frye
