

Please leave our water alone. Every time you try something in California you mess it up. Redirecting the water is not going to solve the water problem. The problem is there are too many people in California. Once you realize we are over populated, The light might go on and you will come up with a win win for everyone not just the ones filling your pockets.

Gene Andrews
Tax Payer