Ms. Townsend:

As a life long outdoorsman, angler, camper, and hiker, I'm writing to urge you to ensure that the western slope rivers maintain adequate flows for a suitable habitat for the native trout and steelhead.

Looking back at what used to be, it's apparent that only a small percentage of once great fisheries now remain. Let's work to protect what little is left. Adequate flows of cold water is a good step in that direction.

Sincerely,
