GENERAL INFORMATION PERTAINING TO WATER RIGHTS IN CALIFORNIA

There are two principal types of surface water rights in California. They are riparian and appropriative rights.

A riparian right enables an owner of land bordering a natural lake or stream to take and use water on his riparian land. Riparian land must be in the same watershed as the water source and must never have been severed from the sources of supply by an intervening parcel without reservation of the riparian right to the severed parcel. Generally, a riparian water user must share the water supply with other riparian users. Riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water for later use or to divert water which originates in a different watershed, water previously stored by others, return flows from use of groundwater, or other "foreign" water to the natural stream system.

An appropriative right is required for use of water on non-riparian land and for storage of water. Generally, appropriative rights may be exercised only when there is a surplus not needed by riparian water users. After the formation of the California Water Commission back on December 19, 1914, new appropriators have been required to obtain a permit and license from the State. Appropriative rights can be granted to waters "foreign" to the natural stream system.

Statements of Water Diversion and Use must be filed by riparian and pre-1914 appropriative water users as set forth in Water Code section 5100 with specific exceptions. The filing of a statement (1) provides a record of water use, (2) enables the State to notify such users if someone proposes a new appropriation upstream from their diversions, and (3) assists the State to determine if additional water is available for future appropriators.

The above discussion is provided for general information. For more specific information concerning water rights, please contact an attorney or write to this office. We have several pamphlets available. They include: (1) Statements of Water Diversion and Use, (2) Information Pertaining to Water Rights in California, and (3) Appropriation of Water in California.

SUBJECT,

Legitimate claims to Pre-1914 Riparian and Appropriative Rights. Please contact us in regard to supporting documents.

DETAILS,

We have always supported all water issues that protect our property rights.

We have applied for all licenses, permits, applications and have filed our reports in a timely fashion.

We have purchased stock and we are members of the Colusa Drain Mutual Water Company. We continue to pay assessments to our water company.

One of the most important, natural features of the northern Sacramento Valley drainage and flood control, includes the improved, Colusa drainage area on the westside of the Sacramento River. In the early days, this land was a system of many natural sloughs and canals that drained the agricultural fields and winter flood waters from both the Sacramento River and from the hills west in the Stonyford area. Since the early days, improvements have been made and drainage areas rearranged. Part of this improvement, the "2047 Colusa Drain", runs for two miles through our property.

As far as we are aware, we have never been asked to document our riparian or appropriative claims to Pre-1914 rights. This has become an issue with the Colusa Drain Mutual Water Co., in respect to who has to pay for water being pumped out of the drain.

Please make contact with us. We will produce evidence of our claims.
